GUIDELINES FOR PROCUREMENT UNDER THE LOAN

Article I

General

Section 1.01. Introduction

(a) These Guidelines set forth the rules which THE OVERSEAS ECONOMIC COOPERATION FUND (hereinafter called "the Fund") generally applies to the procurement of goods and services for a development project which the Fund finances in whole or in part by its loan.

(b) The proceeds of the Fund's loan are required to be used with due attention to considerations of economy, efficiency and non-discrimination among countries which are eligible for procurement of the above-mentioned goods and services (such countries are hereinafter called "the eligible source countries"). The Fund considers that in most cases formal open international tendering is the best method for achieving the economical and efficient procurement of the goods and services required for the development projects it finances. The Fund therefore normally requires its borrowers to obtain goods and services through formal open international tendering.

(c) The application of these Guidelines to a particular project financed by the Fund, the extent to which bidding documents and procurement procedures are subject to review by the Fund to ensure conformity with these Guidelines, eligible source countries and provisions for permissible imports from non-eligible source countries shall be stipulated in the contractual documents for the loan extended by the Fund for that Project.

(d) The ultimate responsibility for the procurement of goods and services on any project rests with the owner of the project. Since the owner is usually also the borrower, the term borrower has been used in these Guidelines to refer to the owner as well. The rights and obligations of the borrower vis a vis bidders for goods and services to be furnished for the project are governed by the bidding documents issued by the borrower and not by these Guidelines, which are concerned only with the relationship between the borrower and the Fund.

Section 1.02. Procedures Other than Formal Open International Tendering

There may be special circumstances in which formal open international tendering may not be appropriate and the Fund may accept alternative procedures in cases of following:

(a) Where the borrower has convincing reasons for maintaining a reasonable standardization of his equipment.

- (b) Where the number of qualified suppliers is limited, e.g. of spare parts for existing equipment.
- (c) Where the amount involved in the procurement is so small that foreign firms clearly would not be interested, or that the advantages of formal open international tendering would be outweighed by the administrative burden involved.
- (d) Where, in addition to the cases (a), (b) and (c) above, the Fund deems it inappropriate to follow the formal open international tendering procedures or the Fund deems such procedures inapplicable for example in case of emergency procurement.

In the above-mentioned cases the following procurement formulas may be applied in such a manner as to comply with the formal open international tendering procedures to the fullest possible extent as appropriate:

- (i) Formal Selective International Tendering
- (ii) Informal International Competitive Procurement
- (iii) Direct Purchases from a Single Supplier

Section 1.03. Type and Size of Contracts

Contracts can be let on the basis of unit prices for work performed or items supplied or of a lump sum price, or a combination of both for different portions of the contract, according to the nature of the goods or services to be provided and the bidding documents should clearly state the type of contract selected.

Contracts based principally on the reimbursement of actual costs are not acceptable to the Fund except in exceptional circumstances.

In order to foster widespread competition, individual contracts for which bids are invited shall, whenever feasible, be of a size large enough to attract bids on an international basis. On the other hand, if it is technically and administratively possible to divide a project into contracts of a specialized character and such division is likely to be advantageous and to allow broader formal open international tendering the project shall be so divided.

Single contracts for engineering, equipment and construction to be provided by the same party ("Turnkey Contracts") are acceptable if they offer technical and economic advantages for the borrower country.

Article II

Advertising and Prequalification

Section 2.01. Advertising

On all contracts subject to formal open international tendering, invitations to bid should be advertised in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the borrower's country. Copies of the invitation to bid (or the advertisement) should also be transmitted promptly to local representatives of the eligible source countries.

Section 2.02. Prequalification of Bidders

In case the Fund recognizes necessity of prequalification of bidders, the Fund requires the use of prequalification. It should be done taking into account (i) the experience and past performance of each firm on similar work, (ii) its capabilities with respect to personnel, equipment and plant, and (iii) its financial positions. Abbreviated specifications shall be made available to contractors desiring to be considered for qualification. When prequalification is employed, all firms which are found to be qualified shall be permitted to bid.

Article III

Bidding Documents

Section 3.01. References to the Fund

Bidding documents should refer to the following language:

".....(name of borrower).....has received (or in appropriate cases 'has applied for') a loan from THE OVERSEAS ECONOMIC COOPERATION FUND in ¥.....toward the cost of (name of project)."

Section 3.02. Bid Bonds or Guarantees

Bid bonds or bidding guarantees are a usual requirement, but they should not be set so high as to discourage suitable bidders. Bid bonds or guarantees should be released to unsuccessful bidders as soon as possible after the bids have been opened.

Section 3.03. Conditions of Contract

The conditions of contract should clearly define the rights and obligations of the borrower and the contractor or supplier, and the powers and authority of the engineer, if one is employed by the borrower, in the administration of the contract and any variations thereunder. In addition to the customary general conditions of contract, some of which are referred to in these Guidelines, special conditions appropriate to the nature and location of the project should be included.

Section 3.04. Clarity of Specifications

Specifications should set forth as clearly and precisely as possible the work to be accomplished, the goods and services to be supplied and the place of delivery or installation. The drawings should be consistent with the text of the specifications; where they are not, the text shall govern. The specifications should identify the main factors or bases which will be taken into account in evaluating and comparing bids. Any additional information, clarification, correction of errors or alterations of specifications shall be sent promptly to all those who had requested the original bidding documents. Invitations to bid should contain an indication of the eligible source countries and any provisions for permissible imports from non-eligible source countries.

Except where the Fund has agreed to procedures other than formal open international tendering (see Section 1.02) the specifications should be so worded as to permit and encourage the widest possible international bidding.

Section 3.05. Standards

If national standards to which equipment or materials must comply are cited, the specifications should state that goods meeting Japan Industrial Standard or other internationally accepted standards, which ensure an equal or higher quality than the standards mentioned, will also be accepted.

Section 3.06. Use of Brand Names

Specifications should be based on performance capability and should only prescribe brand names, catalogue numbers, or products of a specific manufacturer if specific spare parts are required or it has been determined that a degree of standardization is necessary to maintain certain essential features. In the latter case the specifications should permit offers of alternative goods which have similar characteristics and provide performance and quality at least equal to those specified.

Section 3.07. Expenditures under Contracts

As the use of the Fund's loan is limited to financing expenditures for goods produced in the territories of the eligible source countries, permissible imports from non-eligible source countries and services supplied from the eligible source countries, the bidding documents should require the contractor or supplier to limit his expenditures under the contract accordingly or to identify expenditures in non-eligible source countries in his statements or invoices.

For statistical purposes the Fund requires information concerning the geographical origin of the goods and services it finances and of their major components. The bidding documents should require the contractor or supplier to furnish the necessary information.

Section 3.08. Pricing of Bids

As the Fund's loan is denominated in Japanese Yen, the bid price should be stated in Japanese Yen provided, however, that for the portion of the bid price which the bidder expects to spend in the borrower's country such portion should be stated in the borrower's currency.

Section 3.09. Contract Price.

The contract price should be stated in Japanese Yen provided, however, that the portion of the contract price which the contractor will spend in the borrower's country should be stated in the borrower's currency.

Section 3.10. Price Adjustment Clauses

Bidding documents should contain a clear statement whether firm prices are required or escalation of the bid prices is acceptable.

In appropriate cases, provision should be made for adjustment (upwards or downwards) in the contract prices in the event changes occur in the prices of the major cost constituents of the contract, such as labor and important materials.

The specific formula for price adjustments should be clearly defined in the bidding documents so that the same provisions will apply to all bids.

A ceiling on price adjustment should be included in contracts for the supply of goods, but it is not usual to include such a ceiling in contracts for civil works.

No price adjustments should normally be provided for goods to be delivered within one year.

The Guidelines do not attempt to identify the various methods by which contract prices may be adjusted.

Section 3.11. Advance Payments

The percentage of the total payment to be made in advance upon effectuation of the contract for mobilization expenses should be reasonable. Other advances to be made, as for example for materials delivered to the site for incorporation in the works, should also be clearly described in the bidding documents.

Section 3.12. Guarantees, Performance Bonds and Retention Money

Bidding documents for civil works should require some form of surety to guarantee that the work will be continued until it is completed. This surety can be provided either by a bank guarantee or by a performance bond, the amount of which will vary with the type and magnitude of the work, but should be sufficient to protect the borrower in case of default by the contractor. Its life should extend sufficiently beyond completion of the contract to cover a reasonable warranty period. The amount of the guarantee or bond required should be defined in the bidding documents.

In contracts for the supply of goods it is usually preferable to have a percentage of the total payment held as retention money to guarantee performance than to have a bank guarantee or bond. The percentage of the total payment to be held as retention money and the conditions for its ultimate payment should be stipulated in the bidding documents. If, however, a bank guarantee or bond is preferred it should be for a nominal amount.

Section 3.13. Insurance

The bidding documents should state precisely the types of insurance to be provided by the successful bidder.

Section 3.14. Liquidated Damage and Bonus Clauses

Liquidated damage clauses should be included in bidding documents when delays in completion or delivery will result in extra cost, loss of revenues or loss of other benefits to the borrower. Provision may also be made for a bonus to be paid to contractors for completion of civil works contracts at or ahead of times specified in the contract when such earlier completion would be of benefit to the borrower.

Section 3.15. Force Majeure

The conditions of contract included in the bidding documents should contain clauses, when appropriate, stipulating that failure on the part of the parties to perform their obligations under the contract shall not be considered a default under the contract if such failure is the result of an event of force majeure (to be defined in the conditions of contract).

Section 3.16. Language Interpretation

Bidding documents should be prepared in English. If other language should be used in the bidding documents, English should be added to the such documents and it is required to specify which is governing.

Section 3.17. Settlement of Disputes

Provisions dealing with the settlement of disputes should be included in the conditions of contract. It is appropriate that the provisions should be based on "Rules of Conciliation and Arbitration" which has been prepared by International Chamber of Commerce.

Article IV

Bid Opening, Evaluation and Award of Contract

Section 4.01. Time Interval Between Invitation and Submission of Bids

The time allowed for preparation of bids will depend to a large extent upon the magnitude and complexity of the contract. Generally not less than 45 days should be allowed for international bidding. Where large civil works are involved, generally not less than 90 days should be allowed to enable prospective bidders to conduct investigations at the site before submitting their bids. The time allowed, however, should be governed by the circumstances relating to each project.

Section 4.02. Bid Opening Procedures

The date, hour and place for latest receipt of bids and for the bid opening should be announced in the invitations to bid and all bids should be opened publicly at the stipulated time. Bids received after this time should be returned unopened. The name of the bidder and total amount of each bid and of any alternative bids if they have been requested or permitted should be read aloud and recorded.

Section 4.03. Clarifications or Alteration of Bids

No bidder should be permitted to alter his bid after the bids have been opened. Only clarifications not changing the substance of the bid may be accepted. The borrower may ask any bidder for a clarification of his bid but should not ask any bidder to change the substance or price of his bid.

Section 4.04. Procedures to be Confidential

Except as may be required by law, no information relating to the examination, clarification and evaluation of bids and recommendations concerning awards should be communicated after the public opening of bids to any persons not officially concerned with these procedures until the award of a contract to the successful bidder is announced.

Section 4.05. Examination of Bids

Following the opening, it should be ascertained whether material errors in computation have been made in the bids, whether the bids are fully responsive to the bidding documents, whether the required sureties have been provided, whether documents have been properly signed and whether the bids are otherwise generally in order. If a bid does not substantially conform to the specifications, or contains inadmissible reservations or is not otherwise substantially responsive to the bidding documents, it should be rejected. A technical analysis should then be made to evaluate each responsive bid and to enable bids to be compared.

Section 4.06. Postqualification of Bidders

In the absence of prequalification, the borrower should determine whether the bidder whose bid has been evaluated the lowest has the capability and financial resources effectively to carry out the contract concerned. If the bidder does not meet that test, his bid should be rejected.

Section 4.07. Evaluation and Comparison of Bids

Bid evaluation must be consistent with the terms and conditions set forth in the bidding documents. In addition to the bid price, adjusted to correct arithmetical errors, other factors such as the time of completion of construction or the efficiency and compatibility of the equipment, the availability of service and spare parts, and the reliability of construction methods proposed should be taken into consideration. To the extent practicable these factors should be expressed in monetary terms according to criteria specified in the bidding documents. The amount of escalation for price adjustments, if any, included in the bids should not be taken into consideration.

The currency or currencies in which the price offered in each bid would be paid by the borrower if that bid were accepted should be valued in terms of a single currency selected by the borrower for comparison of all bids and stated in the bidding documents. The rates of exchange to be used in such valuation should be the selling rates published by an official source, and applicable to similar transactions on the day bids are opened unless there should be a change in the value of the currencies before the award is made. In such cases the exchange rates at the time of the decision to notify the award to the successful bidder should be used.

A detailed report on the evaluation and comparison of bids setting forth the specific reasons on which the determination of the lowest evaluated bid is based should be prepared by the borrower or by its consultants.

Section 4.08. Rejection of Bids

Bidding documents usually provide that borrowers may reject all bids. However, all bids should not be rejected and new bids invited on the same specifications solely for the purpose of obtaining lower prices in the new bids, except in cases where the lowest evaluated bid exceeds the cost estimates by a substantial amount. Rejection of all bids may also be justified when (a) bids are not responsive to the intent of the bidding documents, or (b) there is a lack of competition. If all bids are rejected, the borrower should review the cause or causes justifying the rejection and either consider revisions of the specifications or modification in the project (or amounts of work on items called for in the original invitation to bids), or both. In special circumstances, after consultation with the Fund, the borrower may negotiate with one or two of the lowest bidders to try to obtain a satisfactory contract.

Section 4.09. Award of Contract

The award of a contract should be made to the bidder whose bid has been determined to be the lowest evaluated bid and who meets the appropriate standards of capability and financial resources. Such bidder should not be required, as a condition of award, to undertake responsibilities or work not stipulated in the specifications or to modify his bid.

After bids have been analyzed, copies of the analysis of bids and proposals for awards, together with the reasons for such proposals, shall be submitted to the Fund for approval.

Article V

Guidelines for the Use of Consultants

Section 5.01. Independence of Consultants

Consultant firms employed in relation to a project financed under the Fund's loan shall be independent in the sense that their advice and the designs, specifications and tender documents prepared by them shall be free of national, commercial or industrial bias.

Consulting engineers who are associated with contracting or manufacturing firms shall be used only if they disqualify themselves and their associates for work in any other capacity on the same project. In the case of consulting engineers who are affiliates of manufacturers offering consulting services steps shall be taken not only to ensure that the company to which the consultant is affiliated will be disqualified from future bidding on any part of the project, but also that specifications will be impartial and can be complied with on a competitive basis.

Section 5.02. Selection of Consultants

Formal competitive bidding procedures are not required for the selection of consulting firms. However, in the process of selection, the borrower shall consider a reasonable number of prospective firms, including those notified by the Fund, which can be expected to render competent and independent services from the eligible source countries. Invitations to submit proposals shall be extended to at least three firms. Proposals, when received, should first be qualitatively compared, i.e., with respect to plans of approach, schedules, experience and capabilities of personnel to be assigned; after selection of a firm or firms considered to be best qualified for the assignment has been made, negotiations to agree upon the price and other financial terms of the contract should be opened so as to reach the final decision. The Fund reserves the right to approve the choice of the consultant to be employed or already employed by the borrower for the preparation and supervision of the project financed by the Fund.

COMMITMENT PROCEDURE (II)

1. Payment for import of goods and services is often arranged under a commercial letter of credit, whereunder a commercial bank operating in the supplier's country makes payment to the supplier against documents specified in the letter of credit and reimburses itself from funds made available by the importer through his bank. When such payment to the Supplier is eligible for financing under the Fund's Loan, the Purchaser may provide in the letter of credit that the paying bank will reimburse itself from an authorized Japanese foreign exchange bank in Tokyo (hereinafter referred to as "the Japanese Bank"). The Japanese Bank shall obtain the funds for reimbursement from the Fund under the assurance by the Fund. Such assurance, whenever provided, takes the form of a letter of commitment from the Fund to the Japanese Bank (hereinafter referred to as "the Letter of Commitment") whereby the Fund undertakes to disburse, on certain conditions, the amount to be reimbursed by the Japanese Bank under and in accordance with the specified letter of credit.
2. (1) The Borrower or its designated authority shall conclude an agreement on a letter of credit with the Japanese Bank immediately after signing of the Loan Agreement.

Note: The Borrower or its designated authority shall furnish the Fund with the specimen signatures of the persons authorized to execute the Application for Irrevocable Letter of Credit.

The Japanese Bank shall request the Fund to issue the Letter of Commitment by submitting a copy of such Application.

When the Fund finds such Application in order and in conformity with the provisions of the Loan Agreement and the terms of the Contract, the Fund shall issue to the Japanese Bank the Letter of Commitment in accordance with the attached Form OECF-LOC.

(3) Upon receipt of the Letter of Commitment, the Japanese Bank shall issue an L/C addressed to the Supplier substantially in accordance with the attached Form OECF-LCI for the goods and OECF-LCII for the services respectively.
